TimeOut New York Magazine

On a rather deserted corner in the West Village, just a few blocks down from Hogs & Heifers, this tranquil little spot serves remarkably good Chinese. On weekdays, treat yourself to one of 16 lunch specials ($3.95-$4.95), which include an appetizing stewed chicken (chunks of tender chicken meat cooked in a sweet soy saucey-tasting seasoning with onion seeds). The vegetable dumplings are beautifully made and filled with veggies you can see; entrees such as the spicy glazed shrimp offer delicious alternatives to the standards like lemon chicken, which are also good. In warm weather, eat at the cozy outdoor tables.
Baby, it's you! Get your dumplings at this West Village spot.

Welcome to Bali Burma!

"East is East and West is West, and never the twain will meet," were Rudyard Kipling's famous words.

But time has changed and he never could have foreseen, that the U.S.A. was to become a multiracial society, an "unity in diversity" of multicultural Americans, among them with Indonesian and Burmese roots, living graciously together. As a tribute to their homeland, people from the East came along with their cultural identity of which "food" or "cuisine" was a prominent one. The culinary tradition from the people of "the spice islands of the East" as Indonesia is called, situated between the Pacific and Indian Ocean and the festive people of The "Golden Land" as Burma is called, well reputed in names from cities as Rangoon and "Hollywood's" road to Mandalay, can be encountered in the variety of the "eyes" - and "palate" seducing courses in our restaurant "Bali-Burma".

Here you will taste the herbs and spices found in these fertile countries: red and green chili, black and white pepper, tamarind, coriander, lemon grass, ginger, clove, cinnamon, basil, mint, bay leaves, nutmeg, to name a few.

The appeal of the food is colourfully complex, spicy and mild, smooth and crunchy all play counter point - fiery foods balanced by sweet or elegantly spiced dishes, hot complemented by cold.

We hope you will enjoy this exotic experience and if you need some assistance, we will be more than happy to guide you.

At BareBurger, people are sometimes puzzled to hear that little of what we do is actually 'new.' Since the dawn of farming, people have eaten the same organic, all natural, free-range, grass-fed meats; all natural cheeses; and organic vegetables that we offer. By partnering with local artisans and working with sustainable farmers, we're returning to an old-fashioned emphasis on quality. It's tastier, it's better for you, and it benefits our community.

PEKING DUCK . . .

One of the most sophisticated arts of Chinese cooking.

We prepare well in advance. Firstly air is pumped into the duck to stretch and loosen the skin, then boiling water is repeatedly spread over the bird, which is then carefully dried. The dried skin is rubbed all over with maltose and the duck is then roasted in a hot oven for a period of time until the meat is tender and the skin crispy.

The duck is served with house made pancakes, green scallions, fresh cucumbers and special sauce.

Since we have only limited supplies every day, First come first served — Thank you.

Welcome to Beijing Gourmet

Dining in Chinese restaurants is always a pleasure or perhaps sometimes a little bit mysterious with dragons and phoenixes on the wall. However, fascinated by such a variety of Chinese cuisines, most of which, as a matter of fact, are probably more or less identical, you might find it difficult to choose a right place for dining if you don't have anything particular in mind.

Here we are very proud to introduce to you the authentically ancient and natural Beijing gourmet cooking with Beijing duck processed in typical and truly Beijing manner as our legendary course. We believe that those, who have ever been to Beijing and had experience in dining there, will certainly find our Beijing gourmet cuisine so impressive and typically traditional that they cannot help coming back for more pleasant experience again. Just have a try of Beijing gourmet cuisine and you would know that we are not boasting.

It is this gourmet cooking we are dedicated to that distinguishes us from most other Chinese restaurants in this big city. Your experience with area Chinese cuisine might have revealed to you that these restaurants rely mostly on one method of cooking, i.e. stir-frying, and emphasize mainly on one of these two regional cuisines, namely Cantonese and Szechuan-Hunan. Stir-frying, is by no means the only way of Chinese cooking though the most popular in the U.S. because of its merits of producing a crisp and delicious dish in a short time. Other than the above two cuisines, China is noted as well for regional traditions from Beijing, Shanghai, Young Chow and Taiwan with each region processing its own unique features. Our gourmet chefs have mastered the essence of the Chinese culinary art and are capable of preparing different regional flavors created from various cooking methods. Thus, we can assure you that your dining with us should be a delightful and satisfying experience.
